Getting to Know Our Ministerial Staff

By Hattie Ingram

Eight Assistant Ministers who were inspired by the ministers, congregation, and teachings of New Bethel are now serving our church in various capacities. All came as visitors of our pastors or our members and decided to become members themselves.

Reverend Christopher Graves began preaching at the age of 3 and was later licensed under the leadership of Pastor W. Carl Foster of New Life Ministries in Greensboro at the age of 16. He has served as Youth Assistant Minister at Mt. Zion Baptist Church under Bishop G. Brooks. He is married to Brooke Nicole Brown.

The Reverend Carolyn Diane Horton earned the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Sociology and Religion from Salem College and is currently pursuing the Master of Divinity Degree at Wake Forest University Divinity School. She completed Clinical Pastoral Education at Wake Forest

Later, he became the first black truck driver employed at R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

Reverend Samuels was called and installed as pastor of St. Stephen Missionary Baptist Church in 1858. God blessed him and his members with a new edifice where she served as senior pastor with 33 ministers an over 1500 members until his retirement. He is known throughout the area for leadership and spiritual mentoring of preachers. In addition he pastored Friendship Baptist Church in Cooleme, North Carolina for more than 20 years.

He is affiliated with numerous ministerial conferences and associations. He is the recipient of numerous awards and honors.

Reverend Joseph R. Samuels is married to the former Margaret Brown. He is father of two sons, Jonathan and the late Joseph, Jr.

JAMES DELANO FORD
TAKES POSITION IN NEW ORLEANS

Ford Is A Broad President

By Diane Piggott

Winston-Salem native, James DeLano Ford is one of 31 Broad Residents of the Broad Center for the Management of School Systems. Now residing in New Orleans, he works for KIPP New Orleans, a public charter school management organization in a management capacity to improve operations so that critical resources can be pushed down to the classroom.

Ford earned his Master's Degree in Business from Cornell in 2008 and was identified by the Broad Center as it recruited talented leaders from education, business, the military, nonprofit organizations and government who have a passion, knowledge and skills to take on executive leadership roles in urban education. The Center was established in 2001 to raise student achievement by recruiting, training and supporting executive leadership talent across America to become the next generation of urban school district leaders. The Center is funded by the Eli and Edythe Broad Foundation.

As a youth, he was active at New Bethel. He was a 1997 graduate of Carver High School and a 2001 graduate of Morehouse College. He has previously worked as a senior consultant for Capgemini helping organizations improve their efficiency and effectiveness. He also has nonprofit experience working for the Chicago Public Schools, the State of Georgia and The London School of Economics. (Continued Page 3, Column 2, Article 2)

Curtis Introduces Mr. Could Be

By Diane Piggott

Deacon Wesley Curtis, Jr. introduced "Mr. Could Be" as he addressed the 12th Annual Prayer Breakfast of New Bethel Baptist Church on Saturday, January 10, 2009. The Breakfast which is sponsored by the Deaconesses and Trustee Wives was held at 9 a.m. and Mrs. Dollye Mack was Worship Leader. The Communion Singers provided the music.

This service of reverence and thanksgiving featured Deacon Curtis bringing "prayerful reflections". The theme for the occasion was "Pressing Toward The Mark of Christ Jesus in 2009".

Deacon Curtis entitled his reflections "Good Intentions, Undone!" In so doing he brought in an adult-size human skeleton whom he named, Mr. Could Be and seated him in a chair as he began his message. Pointing to Mr. Could Be, he remarked, "Mr. Could Be was the most "well-intentioned" man there was. He said, "I love everybody!" He sang well at home and would say, "Whatever you want me to do, just ask me!" Curtis continued, "Ironically, he never got around to doing very much." Curtis admonished us to "don't judge your brother; don't put stumbling blocks in his way. Let us do what leads to peace and edification of one another. Accept one another!"
