By Rev. Dianne Horton

During the month of July the Senior Ministry will collect donations for Senior Services. Senior Services is an organization committed to helping our elderly live with dignity. The organization is soliciting help for our community's elderly in need. They call this campaign Christmas in July.

The entire church family is invited to participate by donating non-perishable food items, health & hygiene products, and household helps. Boxes will be located in the annex for you to place your donations. Donations will be accepted through Sunday, July 31.

The New Bethel Church family did an outstanding job with this campaign last year. Let's do it again this year by extending kindness and generosity to the seniors in our community.

Articles of Faith

The Flower Club is excited about the progress toward the completion of New Bethel's pictorial directory. A total of 134 families have participated by having their portraits taken by Lifetouch Photography. This reflects the dedication of our church membership. Currently, auxiliaries and ministries of the church are being photographed. If you would like your group to take a picture, please be present on next Sunday, July 10th. We will complete all group pictures on this date following morning service. There are several new ministries here at New Bethel that are not listed on the church bulletin. If you are a member in one of these groups, please plan to be in attendance on the aforementioned date. The group plans to have the directory completed by the pastor's anniversary in October.

Editorial Involve Your Youth For Summer

By Diane Piggott

Summer brings to an end the hustle and bustle of school, but parents should keep their youth involved in activities during the summer to keep their minds sharp and energized.

Public libraries, recreation centers and public pools offer excellent opportunities. But one must always exercise great caution and make sure supervision is around. Movie theaters are offering reduced rates on movie deals during the summer. Churches will have Vacation Bible School sessions from now until the second week of July. The thing is to keep them occupied. Remember the saying, "An idle mind is the Devil's workshop."

Parents, the time comes that you have to go to being your child's teacher. You were his or her first teacher so you just go to making up some activities. Sorting socks on wash day gives youth a way to recognize patterns. For the early grades, parents, you should be able to make up problems in simple math to reinforce basic math facts. Too many youth rely solely on the calculator to perform some basic additions and subtractions. And by all means, have them pick up several books to read for summer. Have them tell you the story so you can see if they gathered the facts or story lines.

For those of you who have computers in your homes, the North Carolina Department of Public Instructions have a website to give you practice materials. That site is www.ncdpi.com. Keep your youth involved! Have a great summer.
