Jamon says, "I am really excited about attending North Carolina A&T State University. It was the school that my aunt and uncle attended, as well as, a few of my cousins. It will be hard leaving home, but I'll be right over there in Greensboro. My family has supported me so much that it's a little scary knowing I will be on my own, but I am ready for the challenge. I just keep remembering the scripture my grandmother has been reciting to me, especially lately, Philippians 4:13—I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me."

Recently Jamon was pictured in the WTimes Newspaper, the Winston-Salem Chronicle, and the Winston-Salem Journal for receiving scholarships to attend college. The WS Chapter of the NAACP selected Jamon to win the $1,000.00 Benjamin Ruffin Community Service Scholarship for his volunteer service to the Salvation Army Boys club and his service to the Samaritan Soup Kitchen through New Bethel Baptist Church. Additionally, he was selected as one of the top ten students out of 1300 applicants, to receive a $5,000.00 scholarship from the Alltel Words of Wisdom Essay Contest. He was flown to Little Rock, Arkansas, accompanied by his grandmother, Barbara Carson, and his aunt, Tina Carson-Wilkins, where he received his award from world-renowned author and poet, Dr. Maya Angelou. "It was an honor to meet her, but I was more excited about taking my first ride in a commercial airplane. I plan to study Electronics Technology at NC A&T, so I can learn how to develop the kind of technology that goes into airplanes and computers," says Jamon.

Both he and his family ask for the prayers and well-wishes of New Bethel as he embarks on this new journey.

Women's Weekend Ministers To The Mind, Body and Spirit

By Diane Piggott

Minister Velma McCloud brought the culminating message in a Women's Weekend as part of the 61st annual Women's Day Observance at New Bethel Baptist Church at 11 a.m. on Sunday, May 25, 2008. Mrs. Tina Carson-Wilkins was Worship Leader.

Minister McCloud selected Romans 12:1-2 as her text to emphasize "The duties of a Christian." She explained that this epistle is called "the Constitution of Christianity." The text stressed three things that we must do: 1) Present our bodies to God; 2) Be not conformed to this world; and 3) Be transformed with the renewing of our minds. She also put the spotlight on us she directed our attention to Galatians 5:19 reminding us "they which do those things will not inherit the kingdom of God."

The Women's Day Chorus gave a stirring rendition of "I Pray We'll All Be Ready" with Ms. Cordelia Cooper on solo as the invitational hymn.

The selection of the 2008 Woman of the Year took a slight turn this year. Mrs. Susan Hunt, Co-Chair of the Women's Day Committee asked every woman to stand in preparation of honoring the 2008 Woman of the Year. She then declared, "The 2008 Woman of the Year is each of you and all of you!" She saluted all women for all that they do! Each woman received a lovely gift bag at the conclusion of the service.

On Friday, May 23, First Lady of Piney Grove Missionary Baptist Church, Attorney Renita Thompkins Linville, treated the women to a message entitled, "You Are a Designer Original." She told of how God created us and how we were wonderfully made; admonished us to love our sisters and brothers and husbands; urged us to transform our minds to the will of God; and finally, told us that God would restore our lives. Following her message, the mostly female audience enjoyed a show of fashions—Mother/daughter combinations modeled first, a fantastic display of "crowns" or hats followed and the final segment featured "high fashion."

On Saturday, May 24, the women were invited out to a relaxing day. The Drayton Multipurpose Room was transformed into stations to minister to the female body and wholesome snacks were served.
